To Whom It May Concern:

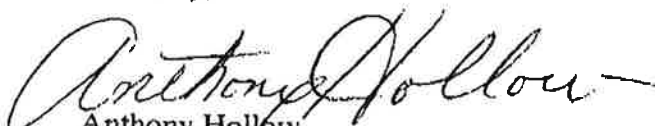

The Vandercook Lake Public School District would like to thank and commend the Moore Trosper Construction Company for the outstanding guidance and work they have provided as the construction manager of our 4.5 million dollar bond renovation project. Our district has been fortunate to have had two major bond projects passed by the community within the past ten years. Moore Trosper has been selected by our Board of Education for both of those projects. And believe me, if there is ever a third, their company would be on the top of our list.

As you probably know, school district construction operates quite differently than any other venue. There is considerable planning, community involvement, state mandates, and district requirements that must be met – even before the proposal is put before the voters for “possible” approval. Ted Moore and his company invested endless hours with our district not even knowing the millage would be passed in tough economic times. They let us know all the while, if the vote failed, we had no financial responsibility towards their company. This type of commitment, loyalty, and trust is almost unheard of in today’s world.

The project nears completion. Moore Trosper has kept the budget well within the original cost estimate by being fair and consistent with the subcontractors and making sure they are in constant communication with the owner, a must for any design built, fast track project.

If I can be of any further assistance, please feel free to contact me at (517) 782-9044.

Sincerely,

Anthony Hollow
